

- 28 -

A B S T R A C T

A disposable undergarment 1A includes an absorbent panel and a stretchable skin-facing sheet 7 positioned on a skin-facing side 2 of the panel 6. The skin-facing sheet 7 has fixed regions 7a lying on longitudinally opposite end regions 1a of the undergarment 1A, a middle region 7b normally biased to be spaced apart upward from the panel 6, transversely opposite side edge regions 7c transversely inward to define leg-holes and an opening 8 formed in the middle region 7b in a manner that a basis weight of the skin-facing sheet 7 is higher in the transversely opposite side edge regions 7c than in the remaining region and a tensile stress of the skin-facing sheet 7 is higher in the transversely opposite side edge regions 7c than in the remaining region.